Manjula Selvarajah

Manjula Selvarajah is a national columnist for CBC Radio's 20-plus radio stations across the country and a guest host for CBC's national and local shows, including Day 6 and Fresh Air. She is the host of the MaRS Discovery District podcast Solve for X, and a frequent emcee and moderator with repeat speaking appearances at Elevate and Collision. Formerly, she was on the executive team of a now-acquired Toronto-based startup and held a degree in Engineering from Queen's University. She sits on the board of the non-profit Scientists in School.
