

Eoin Callan

Managing Director at Bloom
Impact Capital

Eoin Callan is an impact investor with more than two decades of experience mobilizing capital and communities for systems change. He is Managing Director of an impact fund that invests in action on nature, climate, and community - and backs diverse early-stage founders who are building original solutions to tough problems. Eoin is active in collaborations to deepen the community finance ecosystem in Canada and build out the impact investing market across the Americas. He has a background in journalism, public policy, and investing, and served: on the staff of a think tank; the board of a $100bn pension fund; and as the economics correspondent for the Financial Times in Washington. He has appeared as a guest analyst on the BBC, CNBC, NBC, CBC, and Fox.

Presenting: Tech for Nature:
Transforming Food Systems

 Global
Startups Conference